TOGETHER IN SCRIPTURE

Genesis 12:10–13:18

Context: Setting the Table

After the creational prologue of 1:1–2:3, the book of Genesis divides into two unequal halves of five sections each. The first half of the book (2:4–11:26) deals with the history of humanity as a whole, from its creation to the birth of Abram. The second half of the book (11:27–50:26) opens with the sixth section, the “family history” of Terah (11:27–25:11), which recounts the foundational story of Abram from birth to death. In this second part of the sixth section, God continues to make promises to Abram despite his disgraceful failure in Egypt.

Content: Hearing the Text

Read Genesis 12:10–13:18 together out loud.

Credo: Believing the Truth

Abram got off to a good start in his journey of faith, building an altar and journeying through the land of promise. Yet when the coming of a famine forced him out of Canaan and into Egypt, his choice to rely on his own cleverness for protection resulted in disaster. Far from being a blessing to the nations, Abram brought only destruction. To make matters worse, his ill-gotten Egyptian gains led to strife and division within his own family. Thankfully, God’s promises had never been based on Abram’s performance. No matter how dismal Abram’s failures, God could not and would not give up on his plan to accomplish his good purposes for creation by fulfilling the promises he had made to this particular man.

Conduct: Reshaping Our Walk

What are some of the situations in which we, like Abram, might be tempted to protect ourselves by deceptive “cleverness”?

Examples: Concealing income on our tax returns; Hiding sins that we promise ourselves we will deal with privately because we fear the consequences for our ministry or relationships if we confess them to others.

How might we, like Lot, be tempted to make decisions for our future that are based solely on the goods we can see with our eyes?

Examples: Moving for the sake of a higher income without considering the spiritual consequences of our choice for our family; Postponing generosity until our financial goals have been met.

FELLOWSHIP EXHORTATION ENCOURAGEMENT GROWTH

Book of the Month

Early in the sixteenth century, legislative decree in England controlled people's access to Scripture and prohibited an English Bible. But theologian and linguist William Tyndale was determined to provide his fellow countrymen with Scripture they could read. In The Daring Mission of William Tyndale, Dr. Steven J. Lawson traces this daring mission, which was ultimately used by God to ignite the English Reformation yet would cost Tyndale his life.
