TOGETHER IN SCRIPTURE

Genesis 21:1–34

Context: Setting the Table

After a creational prologue, Genesis divides into two unequal halves of five sections each. The first half of the book (2:4–11:26) deals with the history of humanity as a whole, from its creation to the birth of Abram. The second half of the book (11:27–50:26) focuses on the history of the patriarchs. In these ninth and tenth installments of the story of Abraham, Sarah gives birth to Isaac, Ishmael is sent away, and Abimelech makes a covenant with Abraham.

Content: Hearing the Text

Read Genesis 21:1–34 together out loud.

Credo: Believing the Truth

For a quarter of a century Abraham waited. His clumsy attempts to bring God's promises to fruition had complicated his life immensely without furthering God's purposes in the least. Yet while Abraham sometimes seemed to forget about God, God never forgot about Abraham. In his own perfect time, Sarah gave birth to Isaac—the son that God had promised all along. Though Abraham's past failures had ongoing consequences, they were utterly powerless to thwart the perfect fulfillment of God's promises.

Conduct: Reshaping Our Walk

Discuss the meaning of the text and then walk through the following application questions as you discuss the difference this meaning ought to make in our lives today.

Despite their doubts, God's fulfillment of his promises to Abraham and Sarah was perfect in every way. How might we be tempted to forget that God always keeps his word?

Examples: Turning our back on Jesus because we feel that we have been "let down" by God; Allowing a cynical spirit to cloud our own and others joy in the wonderful promises of God; etc.

God's promises to Isaac demanded that Abraham, despite his great affection for Ishmael, cast out his firstborn son. What are some of the ways in which our own natural affections could tempt us to ignore the difficult decisions God calls us to make?

Examples: Singles who are unwilling to end toxic relationships that are harming both parties; Refusing to give up traditions or habits that hinder God's purposes in our own or others lives; etc.

Book of the Month

The Gospels tell the story of the life of Jesus Christ while he was on earth. But what evidence is there that the events actually happened? New Testament scholar, Peter J. Williams, answers questions about how the accounts were handed down throughout history and addresses objections that they're historical fiction. Written for the skeptic, the scholar, and everyone in between, this book answers common objections raised against the historicity of the Gospels in order to foster trust in God's Word.

Available downstairs in the Westside Bookstore
